Our Love Story

How We Met:

We met on CatholicMatch after finishing undergrad. Just a week into chatting, we felt a spark. Our romance was a long-distance adventure. Communication was our golden rule from day one, with countless hours spent in deep conversation.

Our Journey Together:

We always planned to become parents a year after getting married, but God surely had other plans for us! It became challenging to trust, but we held onto each other, hoping that if God brought us together, he'd bring us children. We are so thankful that after 7 years, God led us to our twins!

Faith

Faith is the center of our relationship and what makes our household function. We are Catholic and will raise all of our children to love the Lord.

Our Values & Beliefs

Love & Support:

We aim to cultivate a secure attachment with our boys. With an infant, we promise they will feel loved and belong. This foundation will help them grow up happy and brave enough to explore.

Our Hopes & Dreams

For Our Family:

Our families fully support our choice to adopt. The boys integrated seamlessly, feeling like they've always been part of us. We hope to welcome more children

For Our Children:

"Safe", "Kind", and "Helpful" are key words our boys hear. We discipline out of love and use a therapeutic form of parenting.

We support open adoption. Aaron's experience with his closed adoption has greatly influenced this openness.

Dear Expectant Mom,

Thank you for choosing life and for considering adoption for your child. We acknowledge that this is a difficult and emotional time for you, and we appreciate you taking the time to learn about us.

We are Aaron and Erin, a couple with eight years of marriage and a strong desire to grow our family. We have experienced both joy and challenges, including the pain of infertility after six years of treatments. Recognizing this reality, we have chosen to focus on adoption to expand our family.

After our home study was approved, we matched with twins just two weeks later, affirming our belief that we were meant to be parents. We assure you that your child will have a safe, loving home filled with joy and opportunities for growth, nurtured in the Christian faith, and surrounded by a supportive family.

Aaron's personal experience as an adoptee lends us a unique perspective, and we are open to maintaining a level of communication that is comfortable for everyone involved. We hope to build a respectful relationship with you and be the answer to each other's prayers. We look forward to the chance to meet you.

Blessings,

Aaron & Erin
