Our Faith

Our faith is at the heart of everything that we do as we walk in the paths God sets out for us. Just as Christ's love knows no bounds, our love for this precious baby knows no limits. We are committed to providing a nurturing, God-centered home where a child can grow, thrive, and experience the immense love of a family rooted in faith.

Married in October, 2019

Attend Christian winter retreat in December, 2021

Employment and Education

Both of us are employed at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, with full-time jobs. As we anticipate the arrival of the baby, we are fully committed to transitioning to part-time employment as well as making necessary adjustments to our work hours. This decision stems from our strong desire to provide optimal care for the newborn baby.

Dear Birthparent,

My husband (Tracy) and I (Wen) feel incredibly humbled as we write these words to you. We want to express our deepest admiration for your courage and strength in considering adoption for your precious baby. We understand that this is an immensely important decision, and we want you to know that your baby's well-being and future are of paramount importance to us.

Please allow us to introduce ourselves. We are both devout Christians and have a strong faith in God that guides us through every step of our lives. Our faith has not only strengthened our bond as a couple but also deepened our commitment to becoming parents who provide unwavering love, support, and a nurturing environment.

We believe that every child is a gift from God, and if it is His will, we would be incredibly honored to welcome your baby into our family. We are ready to provide a loving home where your baby will be cherished, supported, and encouraged to grow into the unique individual that God has destined them to be.

We want you to know that we hold the utmost respect for your wishes and decisions during this process. We are open to whatever level of communication you are comfortable with, whether it's occasional updates, letters, pictures, or even the possibility of visits in the future. We believe that transparency and open-heartedness are essential in building a strong foundation for our journey together.

Thank you for considering us as potential parents for your baby. We are keeping you in our prayers as you make the best decision for both you and your baby. We are ready to embrace this journey with open hearts, and if you find it in your heart to choose us, we are committed to providing a loving and nurturing home filled with faith, care, and endless hope.
